The future of ePayment,
all in one device.

THIS IS ALIO NOTE.

What if one device could do it all? CPI presents the future of vending cashless solutions with the ALIO Note.

Not only does this next generation bezel provide you with combination note and card acceptance, it allows for EMV chip, magstripe, contactless, and mobile payment. What's more? The antenna and telemeter are built right into the device. That means no extra hardware, no drilling into the machine, no hassle. All you need, all in one device.

With ALIO Note, you really can have it all.

- Standard fit frame plate promote easy install and 100% backwards compatibility with existing and future note validation systems
- Internal communications and cellular antenna eliminates the need for a separate telemeter or drilling holes for mounting an external antenna - all without compromising connectivity
- 2.8" color TFT LCD display panel with screen protector allows for customized content and engaging user interaction
- Instructional graphics and capacitive touch user interface provide an easy and intuitive customer experience

More rewards - for you, and your customers.
